Martin Schultze named on EHL Technical Group

EHL and the European Hockey Federation are delighted to announce that with the co-operation of his club, Uhlenhorster HC, Martin Schultze has accepted an invitation to join the EHL Technical Group.

The EHL Technical Group is the EHF Committee established to discuss all hockey technical aspects of EHL. It reports directly to EHF Executive Board and comprises Wiert Doyer (Chair), Marijke Fleuren, Jorge Alcover, Martyn Gallivan, Steve Catton and now Martin Schultze, head coach at UHC Hamburg.

Martin Schultze said, "It is a big honor for me to be appointed to the EHL Technical Group. I hope to fulfill the expectations, which are being asked of me and I really look forward to playing my part in the positive progress of EHL."

Martin Gotheridge, President of the EHF said, "We are delighted that UHC has allowed Martin Schultze to join this important working group. EHL is a huge success not only due to the wonderful presentation and marketing by Pro-sport and the support of our partners, but also with the massively important input from our clubs. Martin brings with him the experience of being involved in one of the winning teams, he is aware of the pressures on the players and management and also how EHL has encouraged the club players in Europe to lift their game to compete on the biggest club stage. We thank him for agreeing to be part of this group and we hope that this appointment will continue to ensure that EHL is the best way hockey has ever been presented."
